Indigo Volunteers is built to unleash everyone's potential to help.

We have set our mission to ensure that grassroots humanitarians have the resources and connections to provide vital assistance to refugees and displaced people.

With 187,993 displaced people having arrived in Europe in 2022, our mission remains as relevant as ever before.

What our partners & volunteers said

"About a third of our volunteers come via Indigo so they are critical to our operation. Not only do they save us time and money advertising and appealing for new volunteers but the quality of the people they send our way is frequently very high. They respond quickly to our requests for extra help, they are good at supporting us with professional development and they are incredibly easy to deal with.

You can tell that they understand what we need and have tailored their service to that.

They're impressive and we're very grateful. " "

"With Indigo I saw a focus on what benefits the people in need the most.

I greatly appreciate that Indigo uses its network to put aspiring volunteers in contact only with organisations who need someone with the prospects specific set of competencies. I can only give praise to the team of Indigo. They provided me with just enough info before I started my placement, and they checked up on my well being and my relationship the organisation I worked with several times during the placement. " "
